

29/02/2004

The seven most amazing things you will discover in Jewish life and culture.

This week: Ben Stiller takes on Starsky, Malcolm Rifkind makes his political comeback, welcome to the KosherLamp brand shabbos lamp and Hebrew National enter the Mezuzah market.

by: Leslie Bunder and Caroline Westbrook

Let there be light: a new invention in the US is set to end the problem of not being able to turn the lights on and off on Shabbat. The KosherLamp™ brand shabbos lamp consists of a pair of cylinders with a fluorescent lamp inside, which is revealed when the outer cylinder is twisted. The device has already received full rabbinic approval and, according to its website, means you can “finally read in bed on Shabbat.” Find out more at: www.kosherlamp.com